CollegeZapps

Founded in June 2007, CollegeZapps is a web based university application system in the USA similar to the UK's UCAS system. Students can fill in one online application form and apply to as many colleges as they wish in minutes. BACK had to ensure that over 3,000 application forms with over 90,000 data points were fielded in just eight weeks and deployed a team of 57 staff on the project.

Mike Zaremba, the CEO of CollegeZapps said "BACK Consulting were one of the few who could provide the resources and management experience and planning to execute the planned project. Their pricing model was fair and straightforward, and their commitment to success was evident from onset, beginning with a visit to our offices to help us with planning and requirement stages prior to the project commencement."

"BACK provided consistent, valuable feedback and metrics throughout the lifecycle of the project. Their "hands on" day-to-day management revealed places where efficiencies could be gained, and several adaptations were made throughout the project by BACK Consulting staff to implement those efficiencies."
